BLACK HILLS AMMUNITION

6MM ARC 90-GRAIN DUAL PERFORMANCE AMMO

The 6mm ARC (Advanced Rifle Cartridge) is the most capable cartridge to fit into an AR-15/M4 platform. Compared to even the best 5.56 cartridges, the 6mm ARC has more projectile weight, a higher ballistic coefficient, more energy and less wind drift. For 2024, Black Hills Ammunition has developed a new projectile for this cartridge to make it even more versatile. The new Black Hills 6mm ARC 90-grain Dual Performance load is designed to shoot flatter to 600 yards compared to the 103-grain ELD-X introduced this past year, plus open immediately upon impact to create a large 7-inch diameter wound channel. Velocity is 2,650 fps with over 1,400 foot-pounds of energy. The monolithic solid copper bullet is designed through the wonders of modern precision machining for the petals to separate after impact and penetration, spreading to create their own wound tracks through the stretched tissue, significantly adding to terminal performance. The solid copper shank remaining then continues to penetrate deeply (18+ inches) to ensure game-stopping performance. This new load will prove to be an exceptional option for hunting with modern sporting rifles.

- High ballistic coefficient
- Monolithic solid copper bullet design
- Generates over 1,400 foot-pounds of energy SSR

LEHIGH DEFENSE

TIPPED MAXIMUM EXPANSION AMMUNITION

At the heart of this .308 Winchester ammunition is the innovative 155-grain Tipped Maximum Expansion (TME) bullet from Lehigh Defense. This revolutionary bullet design features a high ballistic coefficient tip that does not expand on dry mediums such as wood, drywall, bone or sheet metal. The expansion process of Lehigh's Maximum Expansion technology is very different from that of a traditional lead-jacketed bullet that expands when it comes in contact with a hard surface — a bullet designed to expand where the expansion is needed and that is in the vital zone of the intended target. Weight retention is normally 99 percent. Lehigh Maximum Expansion rifle bullets expand with four petals to a diameter that is often twice the original bullet diameter while still providing deep penetration. Contrast this with a traditional jacketed bullet that expands and quickly mushrooms the nose back along the bullet's shank, once again reducing the diameter down to a less effective size. Through design and testing, the expansion point was positioned to maintain the expansion diameter exactly where it's required, providing the optimum terminal performance for the specific application.

- Suitable for hunting or tactical use
- Made with high-quality components for reliable performance
- Made in accordance with industry standards to ensure safety and consistency SSR

LIBERTY AMMUNITION

LIBERTY OVERWATCH 9MM AMMO

Liberty Ammunition is one of the best kept secrets in ammunition. Initially funded by the government, it has grown to be the preferred ammunition by operators. Designed to weigh less and hit harder than other brands, Liberty Ammunition is the king of stopping power — delivering all its energy into the threat. The most recent launch is Liberty OverWatch — the hardest hitting 9mm available. Its 72-grain bullet leaves the barrel at 1,720 fps and hits harder than .45 ACP rounds from other brands. In fact, Liberty OverWatch hits 29 to 47 percent harder than other brands at almost one-half the weight. This weight benefit and performance is appreciated by professionals who carry several mags. A lighter weight is also a benefit for people who wear leggings or want to reduce clothing sag. Plus, with its high velocity, Liberty Ammunition penetrates barriers to quickly stop the threat. Liberty Ammunition ruptures after entry, creating a massive wound channel with no over-penetration. Bottom line: Liberty Ammo is lighter to carry and hits harder than any other ammo.

- High velocity at 1,720 fps
- Hardest hitting 9mm ammo available
- Penetrates barriers to quickly stop the threat SSR

BALLISTOL
SUPPRESSOR CLEANER

Although narrow sections on fins and small holes improve the performance of suppressors, they make cleaning these devices much more difficult if they cannot be dismantled. No problem. Surfactant-based and acid-free, Ballistol Suppressor Cleaner automatically removes and neutralizes combustion residues without the use of additional tools and with no disassembly required. Users simply close the suppressor on one end with the provided rubber corks and fill it completely, leaving the cleaner in the suppressor for at least two hours. If the suppressor cannot be closed due to its design, it can be completely immersed in the cleaner. All combustion residues will be dissolved automatically. In the case of suppressors with particularly high firing rates, users can heat the cleaner to approximately 40 degrees C and extend the exposure time to at least four hours. Self-cleaning, odorless and gentle on materials, Ballistol Suppressor Cleaner is also suitable for dismountable silencers and for use in a sonic cleaner. The kit includes two 16.9-ounce bottles of Ballistol Suppressor Cleaner and one two-pack of rubber corks.

TRIPLE ACTION GUN OIL SOLUTION

Iosso Triple Action Oil — available in a handy 4-ounce applicator bottle — is now equipped with a new cap that twists open to allow users to easily and effectively control the exact amount of oil dispensed. Triple Action Oil penetrates to loosen powder, carbon and plastic wad, and is excellent for lubricating gun parts and protecting them from corrosion. For bore cleaning, users can apply the solution to a patch, run it through the bore several times and then apply Iosso Bore Cleaner sparingly to an Iosso Eliminator Brush. Run through the bore one or more times and follow with clean, dry patches until one comes clean. Moisten a patch with solution and run through the bore. Follow with a clean dry patch. This bio-based, biodegradable formula lubricates in extreme temperatures to avoid weapon jamming and has been tested to -74F (-65C) degrees. CLARION 384 DUAL BASE MAGNIFICATION THERMAL SCOPE

The new Clarion 384 dual base magnification thermal scope is one of the most technologically advanced thermal scopes on the market. It was designed to solve one of the biggest problems many night hunters face — selecting which lens size/sensor configuration will provide the base magnification and field of view for each primary application. The Clarion alleviates this concern by incorporating a dual-lens system that has the ability to mechanically alternate between a 25mm lens and a 50mm lens. This changes the base magnification and field of view with no degradation of the image resolution. With the Clarion 384, night hunters can now use the benefits of a 25mm lens with a base magnification of 2X and a wider FOV and then quickly switch to a 50mm lens with a base magnification of 4.5X and a narrower FOV for positive identification and accurate shot placement. This dual base magnification flexibility provides hunters with the versatility to optimize their optic for the specific geography and animals they are hunting, whether it's feral hogs, coyotes or anything else.

- Dual-lens system
- Alternates between 25mm and 50mm lenses

Reloaders can quickly identify excessive case neck and bullet run-out of loaded rounds with the Slant Bed Concentricity Gauge from Redding Reloading. Precision stainless steel bearings provide single-point contact with the cartridge case, creating an ergonomic positioning of the case that improves ease of motion when turning it by making the action far more natural. This improves both the ease of case rotation and the maintenance of proper alignment for more accurate readings. Linear adjustment for various cartridge lengths is simplified with bearing siders mounted on stainless steel guideways. The uniquely angled design of the slant bed also better positions the large and easy-to-read dial indicator for easier viewing. Additionally, the gauge can be transitioned from right-hand to left-hand use by using a provided set of mounting holes on the base. It can be used with supplied non-skid rubber feet or secured to any surface using its direct mounting holes. Accepts any cartridge case from .17 Hornet to .408 CheyTac.

The innovative CCT (Combat Curve Trigger) design combines the comfort of the classic curve trigger with the indexing of CMC's patented flat trigger into one dynamic hybrid trigger bow for the modern warfighter. It features an exceptionally smooth feel, ultra-clean break, exceptional lock time and lightning-fast reset. Its critical sear engagement surfaces have a proprietary machining process that renders a superior finish and dimensional control. As compared to its competition, the techniques CMC uses establishes a 1-2 RMS surface finish as opposed to the EDMing process, which leaves a pitty 32 RMS surface at best. Compare this to a mirror finish, which has a 0 RMS surface finish. This is what sets CMC Triggers apart from its competition. Use promo code PREDATOR for 30 percent off.

- Safe and reliable
- Exceptional lock time and lightning-fast reset
- Sear engagement overlap is up to six to eight times greater than its competitors SSR

CMC TRIGGERS

SUPPRESSOR OPTIMIZED ENHANCED BOLT CARRIER

For shooters who demand superior performance from their firearms, CMC Triggers proudly manufactures the highest-quality firearms components in the industry. The flared rear of its Enhanced Bolt Carrier is designed to reduce carrier tilt/cant during recoil, increasing reliability by strategically relocating key bearing surfaces. The CMC Enhanced Bolt Carrier has fewer points of contact, resulting in less friction area, and the increase in mass ensures proper gas pressures and increases dwell time, thus improving extraction while shooting suppressed or short-barreled rifles (SBRs). It is constructed from case-hardened 8620 steel and complete care is taken during the heat treat process, so as to not harm the metal. Other features include a hardened 4340 steel cam pin, three forward ports enlarged to allow overpressure to escape, fully chamfered cam pin channel and Mil-Spec firing pin made of AISI 8740 steel, centerless ground and hard chrome coated. Like all CMC Triggers products, its Enhanced Bolt Carrier is exceptionally well made, much more durable than standard Mil-Spec AR-15 BCGs. Use promo code PREDATOR for 30 percent off.
